

If I were a billionaire, I might have 12 kids. But until then, I've got four—all under six. All were born at Newport Hospital. Each birth was different—one had some long, tense moments, one was in my arms in 45 minutes. But all were wonderful. I never know exactly what tomorrow will be. Actually, I do know. Tomorrow is going to be crazy. And I can't wait.

Lifespan.org/Chase

Delivering health with care.®