

BALLOONING BELLY PAIN?

Don't try to stomach it. It could be a sign of vascular disease.

An abdominal aortic aneurysm happens when the wall of the body's largest artery bulges like a balloon, causing deep, constant belly pain. Anyone with a family history of an aneurysm should talk to a Jobst Vascular Institute specialist to see if a vascular screening is right for you.