

A person in a high-altitude mountaineering suit, including a black helmet with goggles and a red and black jacket, stands on a snowy mountain peak. The person is wearing yellow and black gaiters and is holding a rope. In the background, there are snow-capped mountains and a clear blue sky. A long white flag is attached to a pole on the right side of the image. The text "This is what cutting-edge cancer care looks like." is overlaid on the image in white.

This is what cutting-edge cancer care looks like.
