LONG LIVE YOU

Ashley K.
Stroke Patient

Ashley was in her early 40s when a blood clot in her brain and blockages in her carotid artery caused her to suffer a stroke. She was quickly transported from Jena, LA to Ochsner Medical Center – New Orleans by Ochsner’s Flight Care Team. Once at the hospital, Ochsner’s expert neurosciences team was able to care for Ashley and get her on the road to recovery. Now, she’s back to playing the piano and improving every day. Whatever your reasons are for doing the things you do – we’ve only got one. You.
